

ADJUST SEATING PLANS

CHALLENGE

Classroom organization.

EXPLANATION

It is very easy for students with dyspraxia to get distracted.

ADAPTATION

It's often beneficial to place students with dyspraxia at the first front rows of the classroom where they can have an easier view of the board. It will be also easier to concentrate when sit distanced from doors, windows, bulletins and other classroom distractions.

Being next to near to class teacher, so that he/she is available to help if necessary is important but they can also be supported by well-motivated and sympathetic classmate.

For younger children make sure the student's feet rest on the floor, adding a small stool if needed. This will give him/her better stability and allow him to better control his actions.

Example

BOARD

TEACHER

